

Chinese Window Flower: Four-Fold Template

1. Cut a square of thin red paper, 18 cm (about 7 in) on each side.
2. Fold it in half, then in half again, so you have a small square.
3. Cut out the shape below. Lay it on the folded paper with CENTER on the corner that was the middle of the sheet and both FOLD edges on folds. Clip it in place.
4. Cut away every gray shape, and cut along the curved outer line. Never cut all the way across a FOLD edge. Then unfold, slowly.

What you get

Gray = cut away. White = your paper. Small sharp scissors help with the holes; cut the inside shapes before the outer edge, while the folded paper is still stiff. Stick it to a window with the light behind it, the way window flowers go up at Chinese New Year. The story: jadealmanac.com/chinese-new-year/paper-cutting
